In the beginning, the supermarket had real mirrors
C D⁷ F G C
Shopping for my mind, I could see what was there to see
C B^b F C
As I looked for my faults, I could see them clearly
C B^b F C
And the people around me didn't care what I bought
C B^b F C
Sometimes they made suggestions, that they didn't try to force on me
C B^b F C
Some people I'd listen to, and others I'd overlook

2. C D⁷ F G C
Today is the end, the supermarket has two-way mirrors
C D⁷ F G C
Shopping for my mind, I half see people peering out at me
C B^b F C
And the people around me, try to do my shopping
C B^b F C
They don't look for themselves, they're too busy looking for me
C B^b F C
They try to run my life, when they can't run their own

3. C D⁷ F G C
Tomorrow there is hope, the supermarket will have no mirrors
C D⁷ F G C
Shopping for my mind, I shall see who's trying to help me
C B^b F C
As I look for my faults, I shall see the hypocrites
C B^b F C
And the people around me, will live the golden law
C B^b F C
Sometimes they'll make suggestions, if they've found them to work

C D⁷
Tomorrow there is hope
