A. D B^m
Life's like a china bowl in many ways
 A^m G D
It started as a lump of modeling clay

A. D B^m
Shaped by the Master's loving hand
 A^m G D
Worked and fired to make hardened sand

Chorus:

B. B^m G
Starting with matter that's always been
 B^m G
He organizes it and thus forms man
 B^m G
So we can have a body, experience life, and then
A G D D
Prove that we're worthy to be like him (last: B.)

A. D B^m
Some have flaws, and when they're fired
 A^m G D
They break all apart, and forget their sire

A. D B^m
Others are glazed like they don't want to be
 A^m G D
And they crack and break when placed under heat
